The screenshot displays the GEO5 software interface with several windows open. On the left, a 'New section' dialog box is visible, showing a trapezoidal cross-section of a wall. In the center, a 'Catalog of profiles' window lists various sheet pile profiles. Below that, a 'Finalist of cross-sectional parameters' window displays a list of technical specifications for a selected profile. On the right, a main design window shows a cross-section of a wall with foundation elements (strip footing and piles) and associated dimensions.
